Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing this letter of recommendation on behalf of the team at Control Power Concepts (CPC). Our primary business interaction with CPC has been to complete commissioning of data centers around North America from coast to coast with CPC providing critical testing assistance.

During the last four years, we have continually progressed in the size of scopes, technical difficulties, and support required with their team and they have always met the challenge. The entire CPC team is reliable, safe, professional, and responsive. They are flexible, provide and receive feedback, take directions, and help resolve issues as they arise.

As they continue to grow with the demands placed on them, they have demonstrated that the personnel they add to their team adhere to the same culture and ethos.

Lastly, the leadership at CPC is very good at communicating exactly how they can help and are very careful to clarify expectations and changes. If they say they are going to do something, they get it done.

Yours truly,

Robert "Henry" Ford
